HOF Capital — VC Associate

After five years as a startup CEO — raising €5.5M, building AI products deployed at BMW, Siemens, and Bosch, and learning what separates fundable companies from impressive demos — I'm looking to bring that operator lens to a fund that values technical depth.

What I bring isn't typical for associate candidates:

- I evaluate AI from the inside out. I built a legal AI platform with <0.2% hallucination using multi-agent verification. When I look at an AI startup's architecture, I can tell whether their accuracy claims survive production — or fall apart at scale.
- I know what founders actually need. Having raised across three rounds, managed a board, and navigated a pivot, I spot execution patterns — good and bad — because I've lived them.
- I source deals others miss. My German/European network surfaces AI-native B2B companies before they enter the US market. European AI talent often builds world-class products but needs help with positioning and market entry.

HOF Capital's portfolio — OpenAI, Anthropic, xAI — signals a deep conviction in foundational AI. What excites me is the opportunity to apply that conviction at the application layer: the vertical AI companies building on top of these models for legal, manufacturing, and healthcare. That's where I've spent my career, and where I believe the next wave of venture-scale outcomes will emerge.

I'd welcome a conversation about how my technical background and founder experience can strengthen HOF Capital's deal sourcing and portfolio support.
